

2012 Training Opportunities

By Christine Roca

Every year, HYPACK makes a tremendous effort to offer low-cost training opportunities for our software users, and next year will be no different.

We will kick off the year with our annual HYPACK® Users' Conference held in San Diego, CA from January 29th-Feb 1st. This three-day seminar offers basic training for novice users or users who need a refresher, as well as expert sessions for the more advanced user. Half-hour one-on-one sessions are also available for customers who wish to sit down with one of our experts and discuss any subjects that relate to their specific needs or usages of HYPACK®.

If it is the newest and greatest you are looking for, thirty of the industry's leading companies will be on hand exhibiting to demonstrate their most recent hydrographic innovations.
